JOHN MILLS, fashionable bootmaker, Coleman's Hotel, No. 1, Sixth street, Washington, is now prepared to furnish gentlemen with boots and shoes of the latest French fashions, (having just received a new set of lasts from his correspondent,) which, for neatness of fit and style of workmanship, cannot be surpassed in this or any other city.

The subscriber being a practical bootmaker, with an experience of fifteen years in cutting and fitting, and now devoting his whole attention to the comfort of the gentlemen, he flatters himself that he can give satisfaction to all those who may favor him with a call. As he sells no work but his own manufacture, all those who purchase from him may depend on the worth of their money.

FORTUNE'S HOME.

A LBANY FEMALE ACADEMY.—The next quarter will commence on the first Monday of Experimer. This institution (founded in the year 1814, and occupying a spacious and elegant of fice, erected especially for its accommodation,) comprises six departments; the whole under the charge of the professors and teachers, besides four who have charge of the ornamental branches, and subject to monthly visitations by committees of the board oftrustees.

The course of instruction is designed to be useful and practical, and to embrace all the various branches of a complete female education.

The institution is furnished with maps, charts, globes, models, chemical and philosophical sparatus for libustrating the science of astronomy, constituting an apparatus for this purpose not surposed, it is believed, by that of any similar institution in the country; and an extensive library, constituting an apparatus for this purpose not surposed, it is believed, by that of any similar institution in the country; and an extensive library, constituting an apparatus for this purpose not surposed, it is believed, by that of any similar institution in the country; and an extensive library, constituting an apparatus for this purpose not surposed, it is believed, by that of any similar institution in the country; and an extensive library, constituting an apparatus for this purpose not surposed, it is believed, by that of any similar institution in the country; and an extensive library, constituting an apparatus for this purpose not surposed, it is believed, by that of any similar institution in the country; and an extensive library, containing about six thousand volumes; in addition to the capacities and attainments of the younger purpose.

the tecapacities and attainments of the younger pupils.

One important feature in the arrangement of the academy, is the division of labor among many instructors, so that the attention of each is devoted to a few studies, instead of being occupied with the whole belonging to a department; and it is to this that the trustees ascribe, in a great measure, the reputation which the institution has derived from the superior scholarship of its pupils.

The department of composition continues, as here-tofore, to receive particular attention, and, in addition to criticisms and corrections of individual productions, oral lectures are given, by the principal and professor of the first department, to the various classes convened for that purpose.

The services of a teacher are devoted exclusively to instructions in penmanship: and instruction in vocal music is given by a lady eminently qualified, and who is engaged in this branch alone.

The French department, it is believed, is not equalled in its arrangements and facilities by any other in the country. The pupils receive daily lessons, and, by the aid of the normal class, in which young ladies may qualify themselves to become accompliahed teachers of the language, the juvenile department has succeeded beyond the expectations of the trustees. Taught in the same manner as children of the same age in France, the pupils in this department acquire the language in its purest pronunciation, with astonishing case and accuracy. In the department of drawing and painting, the trustees have secured the services of a very accomplished instructor in this art.

The courses of lectures on astronomy and chemistry are delivered during the autumn and winter terms; those on the other branches of natural science, during the spring and summer terms.

The boarding establishment, under the personal charge of the principal and professor Molinaro, and subject to the visitation of the trustees—in both of which are afforded the best advantages for the acquirement of a practical knowledge of instrum THE CHEAPEST AND MOST SPLENDID

HEWETT'S EXCELSIOR, and New York II
I hustrated Times. Publisher, H. W. Hewet.

Artist, T. H. Matteson. Editor, C. F. Hoffman.

The Excelsior, a periodical miscellany of original and selected matter, will be published once a fortnight, at the office, No. 2 Astor House, at 123 cents per copy, or $3 per annum, in advance. Each number of the Excelsior will consist of sixteen folio pages, elegantly printed, with the best new type, on fine paper, and embellished with engravings, prepared expressly for this work; and further enriched with a choice piece of illuminated music and graphic illustrations of passing events; besides original and selected architectural designs, alike of an ornamental and useful character; which architectural designs, with accompanying letter-press articles upon this important branch of art, will form a prominent and sterling feature of the work.

In its reading department, besides reviews, tales, sketches, essays, and general correspondence, the Excelsior will keep up a steady record of the more important events of the day, with editorial comments upon such of them as seem to claim particular attention. And, borrowing its name and spirit from the aspiring motto and characteristic emblems of the "Empire State," the Excelsior—while faithfully illustrating the scenes and times through which we are now passing—will ever aim onward and higher, as an American journal of taste and option.

To PERIODICAL AGENTS.—In order to obtain the first and beat impressions of this work, periodical agents generally will forward their orders to the publisher, or their agents, Wm. Taylor, W. H. Graham, or Burgess, Stringer, & Co., in this city, at as early a day as possible.

The holyday number of the Excelsior and New York Illustrated Times will be a fair specimen of those which are to follow, and the publisher, confident that the style and spirit of the embellishments will not be surnassed by any of the festival publition, and in the latter of which the French language is exclusively spoken—the trustees commend with great confidence to their patrons.

The academic year commences on the 1st of Sep tember, and is divided into four terms, commencing respectively on the 1st September, 17th November, 9th February, and 4th May; a vacation of six weeks following the examination in July, and a second of one week at the close of the quarter ending on the 27th April.

The board are happy to state that they have been enabled to engage the services of Mr. L. S. Parsons as principal of the institution—a gentleman whose talents, acquirements, and experience in teaching, inspire the utmost confidence that the interests of the academy will be constantly advanced, and that it will continue, as it has been, to be a rich fountain of public blessing. dent that the style and spirit of the embellishments will not be surpassed by any of the featival publications of the approaching season, at ten times its price, offers it as a holyday present at 12; cents.
